CAMBRIDGE COLLEGES HOSPITALITY SCHEME

July 2012 – September 2012

Cambridge university, in conjunction with the Open Society Foundations, invites applications from scholars from selected countries in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, including Georgia, who wish to work in the University's libraries or to contact academic specialists in their subjects. At Cambridge the programme offers a one-month visit in one of the Cambridge colleges during the summer months (July-September). Scholars must be of post-doctoral or equivalent status and will be university teachers or members of research institutes.

(Note: applicants must have their PhD or equivalent degree according to the countries' academic qualifications practices.)

All scholars receive free single accommodation and meals during their one-month stay, plus a small allowance of £220 for photocopying, books and personal expenses. Partners or dependants cannot be accommodated.

Applicants must have a good knowledge of spoken and written English.

Those who will have spent two months or more of academically-related time in the West within the period 1 April 2011 and the start of their visit will not be eligible. Applicants who have already benefited from this scheme in the past will also not be eligible.

Priority will be given in Cambridge to those working on a specific project such as a book or a new course or series of lectures, and to those who have not previously had a chance to study outside of Central and Eastern Europe or countries of the former Soviet Union.

Details and an application form can be obtained from:

Center for International Education
